This is a bit random, but do you know Power Stone? I've recently become obsessed with collecting rocks. It seems stupid, but I feel like there's really power in them! I've already collected a number of them!

(Crystal)

THEY'RE ALL SO COLORFUL!

The rocks also have different meanings, and can be used to avoid bad luck! (It's true.) At least I hope that my luck will turn good; that's why I'm collecting them. I heard you have to carry around your Birth-stone at all times, and besides, the Power Stone has beautiful legends. They're also really pretty.. It's really fun!

Side Story 6

I've also become obsessed with bubble baths. I love it! No matter how close the deadline is, I just have to soak in the bathtub for a while... Every time I use different types of bubble bath, so the color of the water is different too. Recently hot springs have begun using bubble baths as well. Lying in it relaxes the whole body, providing me with utter bliss. Whenever I have time, I invite my friends to the hot springs. Especially in winter, when we can ski before soaking ourselves. Real hot springs are special! Every time I go on such a vacation, I bring back some souvenirs. It's so wonderful!

THAT DREAM REALLY PREDICTED THE FUTURE...

Side Story 7

Recently I've gotten a cockatoo (?). It has become our house's new pet. As soon as I stepped into the pet store, a clear "He...llo" rang in my ears.

IT'S SO CUTE!

I wanted to have one before, and it's cute voice and noisy personality... I took it to the counter without a second thought. It used to be called "Kimoni", But now I name it "Cutie" It looks a lot like a crow, but there is a ring of ye. ow feathers around its neck and a ovely orange beak. It makes us laugh a lot more when we work. The still dead workroom has now morphed into a livey place. Noisy animals are so cute!

My friend's laugh

Ahahaha!
